

- ✓ Rucksack: 35 to 40 litre day pack preferably without side pockets and light weight with a waterproof liner. You should be able to get everything you need inside the rucksack except your trekking poles which can be attached to the outside.
- ✓ Waterproof jacket: Gore-Tex or other breathable fabric such as Paramo with a hood big enough to fit over a helmet.
- ✓ Waterproof trousers: Make sure you can get the trousers on without taking off your boots.
- ✓ Boots: A good boot with a vibram or equivalent sole preferably a B1 or B2 boot *
- ✓ Socks: Sock combinations worn in boots are very personal. Either one thick pair or a liner pair and medium weight sock
- ✓ Gaiters. Ideally breathable. Short ankle gaiters are ideal for summer conditions.
- ✓ Fleece or woolly hat: Check that it does not drape down over your eyes when wearing a helmet.
- ✓ Gloves: One thick pair and a thin fleecy or woollen pair. Make sure the gloves are a good fit and that the fingers are not too long.
- ✓ Sun Glasses and Sun Cream: The sun often shines on the righteous!
- ✓ Trousers: Light weight quick drying trousers that allow good leg movement and are comfortable or fleecy trousers.
- ✓ Base layer: Top and bottoms.
- ✓ Fleece: Thin fleece to wear over base layer.
- ✓ Warm jacket: Primaloft or thick fleece.
- ✓ Harness: A lightweight alpine style harness is good but if you are bringing your rock climbing harness then make sure it fits over your extra layers of clothing.*
- ✓ Climbing helmet: Big enough to go over your hat *
- ✓ Water container: At least 1 litre.
- ✓ Thermos flask: A small 300ml flask is very useful if you like a hot drink (highly recommended).
- ✓ Head torch: Bring one set of spare batteries
- ✓ Compass, whistle and map. Please ask for details of which map you will need. The Silva type four compass is the best one to buy
- ✓ Personal Medication and small first aid kit.
- ✓ Hill food: Sandwiches, snacks and food for your pockets.
- ✓ Trekking poles: (Optional)
- ✓ Camera: (Optional)
